Long Live Marxism

5 May, 1818 — 14 March, 1883

“...within the capitalist system all methods for raising the social productiveness of labour are brought about at the cost of the individual labourer; all means for the development of production transform themselves into means of domination over, and exploitation of, the producers; they mutilate the labourer into a fragment of a man, degrade him to the level of an appendage of a machine, destroy every remnant of charm in his work and turn it into a hated toil; they estrange from him the intellectual potentialities of the labour process ... they distort the conditions under which he works, subject him during the labour process to a despotism the more hateful for its meanness.... It follows...that in proportion as capital accumulates the lot of the labourer, be his payment [wage] high or low, must grow worse.... It establishes an accumulation of misery, corresponding with accumulation of capital. Accumulation of wealth at one pole is, therefore, at the same time accumulation of misery, agony of toil, slavery, ignorance, brutality, mental degradation, at the opposite pole.”

On Parliament Election 2014 SUCI(C) Central Committee's appeal to people

People are faced with yet another general election to the Lok Sabha. Besides the two main contending bourgeois parties, the Congress and the BJP, all the regional bourgeois parties and social democrats like the pseudo-communist CPI(M) and CPI, all are in the fray claiming themselves as the “champions” of “development” and “crusaders” against “corruption”. As usual the media is loudly propagating their tall claims, promises and mud-slinging against each other.

Since the first general election in 1952, people witnessed many elections and change of governments. But what change have these brought to the life of the people? Do we find any improvement in their living condition? Whatever tall claims these parties with different flags may make, the reality is that a few monopoly, corporate and big business houses have flourished and amassed huge wealth at the cost of ruination of millions of common people. So it is not astonishing to see millions of people living in a perpetual state of abject poverty, starvation and lack of medical treatment; 77% of the people are not in a position to spend even Rs. 20/- a day; there is mass exodus of millions of peasants and agricultural workers to cities in search of jobs; lakhs of peasants are committing suicide having got entangled in debts. Begging, prostitution, trafficking and sale of women and children and crimes against them are ever increasing. The other side of the picture shows India ranking fifth in the world with 122 billionaires, with five Indians figuring in the latest list of the world's top 10 billionaires. Ministers and leaders of almost all the bourgeois parties, owning billions in cash and property, are neck deep in corruption. Even the Lok Sabha, the epitome of Indian democracy has out of its 543 members, 321 billionaires and 180 millionaires, who mostly belong to the Congress, BJP, regional parties and even the CPI (M) and CPI. Recent disclosures by Swiss Bank authorities have revealed a colossal amount of Rs 72 lakh crores of money lying in the personal accounts of Indian industrialists, politicians and bureaucrats, which is nothing but black money and is highest in the world.

These ruling bourgeois parties at the Centre and in the states are engaged in cut-throat competition to outbid each other in proving their efficiency and loyalty in implementing the policies of globalization, privatization, and liberalization at the behest of the MNCs, corporates and monopolists. As a result, there is continuous downsizing of the workforce in industries, closures and lockouts, abolition of jobs, replacement of permanent jobs by contractual jobs, extension of working hours and workload, outsourcing, wage freeze and wage cuts. The governments, both at the Centre and in the states, are, on the one hand, withdrawing all workers' rights while, on the other hand, handing over the public sector to private players, allowing the MNCs and corporates to have control over the mines, agricultural lands, river waters and even the

Left United Front formed in Kerala with RMP, SUCI(C) and MCPI(M), to build up united democratic movements against policies of globalization, corruption, communalism and politics of violence

Left United Front (LUF), a state level united front of three left parties, Socialist Unity centre of India(SUCI(C)), Revolutionary Marxist Party (RMP), and Marxist Communist Party (United) (MCPI(U)) has been formed in Kerala with the avowed object of building up people's united democratic movements against anti-people policies of the central and state governments and against globalization, corruption, communalism and politics of violence in particular.

MCPI(U) was formed a few years back by a group of leaders and cadres who left CPI(M) revolting against the anti-working class stance of that party's leadership. And RMP was formed by another group of leaders and cadres who left CPI(M) very recently disagreeing with that party's leadership on certain policy questions. Founder leader of RMP Comrade T. P. Chandrasekharan was brutally murdered by hired killers employed by CPI(M) state leadership. In the ensuing Lok Sabha election in the state, the LUF will field candidates in 18 seats out of the total 20 seats, of which 5 will be of SUCI(C), 3 of MCPI(U), 9 of RMP and independent supported by LUF. Our Party candidates will be contesting from Trivandrum, Pathanamthitta, Mavelikkara, Alappuzha and Kottayam.

A state level convention declaring the formation of LUF was held at Aiswarya auditorium, Alappuzha on 12 March 2014. Apart from activists of the three constituent parties, a

Ukraine crisis

People strangled by capitalists-imperialists and their brute power game

In recent few months the world appears to be on boil. Of all the international events which are rocking the world, the Ukraine event earns a distinction on many counts. It is not merely an event of 'people's rebellion against an autocratic rule', nor just a 'struggle for democracy' as the US imperialists and their lackeys with the help of pliant media try to make the world believe. Their cries for democracy rather prove to be in the same refrain in which they raise the hype whenever they come out to force a change of regime be it in Iraq, Afghanistan, Libya or Syria. Nor, it is marked merely by uncalled for Russian military intervention into its neighbour's affairs ostensibly to protect people of Russian origin or speaking Russian. The events of Ukraine have deeper roots. But to reach there we may start from the surface, from what happened to give rise to the present crisis.

Precipitation of the turmoil

Trouble began when on 21 November last year Viktor Yanukovich, now deposed president of the country, announced his sudden decision to postpone signing the "association agreement" with the European Union in favour of aid and natural gas agreements with Russia, though he had earlier agreed to sign it on 29 November. There were huge demonstrations at the heart of Kiev, the capital city. People at large were on the streets. Yet the forces that led them were all shady. There was the party of Yulia Tymoshenko. She is the former Prime Minister and a billionaire tycoon who, along with others of her same flock, usurped the ownership rights of government factories and mining companies virtually free of cost when the Soviet Union had collapsed. She had lost power in the last election and was thrown into prison on corruption charges to be set free only recently during the present crisis. Immediately on release she addressed the protesters emotionally, as well as underlined her allegiance by making prompt phone calls to the German Chancellor, top officials and ambassadors of the USA and the EU. Then there was the party led by a former heavyweight-boxing champion, Vitali Klitschko, whom the EU, more so the German imperialism, is reportedly backing as a future presidential candidate. Finally, there was the frightening right-wing fascist Svoboda (Freedom) Party and its allies based on anti-Russia nationalism and anti-Semitism. They defaced monuments to heroes of the World War II victory over Nazism and even brought down the statue of V.I. Lenin, the great leader of the proletariat, from the pedestal and set up the Svoboda party flag and flag of the Nazi era there. Thus, by any definition these were the rightist, pro-imperialist, even fascist blend of bourgeois parties that were leading people in their protests. The protesters wanted change of government. The Ukrainian parliament ultimately voted to depose the President and promised to hold presidential elections on 25 May 2014. The president fled the capital, eventually turning up in Russia. But clashes with the security forces continued and nearly 100 people died. The security forces surrendered the centre of Kiev to the protesters, who claimed full control of the city along with the arms and arsenals of the security forces. A new government was formed.

Role of the imperialist-capitalist powers

Meanwhile, announcing that this was a matter of defending ethnic Russians and pro-Russian Ukrainians in eastern Ukraine and Crimea, the Black Sea peninsula of the country, the capitalist government of Russia issued an ultimatum to Ukrainian forces. Soldiers in Russian uniform without insignia took charge of all important government locations in Crimea. Ukraine's new government and its leaders appealed to the western imperialist powers to help stop Russia. In a hasty statement, the US government praised the "constructive work" done by the Ukrainian parliament and prescribed from their far-away position 'the prompt formation of a broad, technocratic government of national unity.' British Foreign Minister William Hague and US Secretary of State John Kerry rushed to Kiev to stand shoulder-to-shoulder with the country's shaky new government, rather help its formation. Obama, the US president issued threats of sanction and loss of G8 membership to Russia. Intervention of the UN was sought for. On face of adverse reactions, Russia withdrew its military move, but continued to play covert games in Crimea. However in the rest of the country, the ground was all open to the rightist forces and their imperialist mentors. While clamouring against Russian incursion, the US imperialists nakedly imposed sanction and warned those undermining the "democratic processes", dictated terms and thus nakedly intervened in Ukraine's internal matters. Crimea remained the centre of a stand-off. Pro-Russian and pro-Ukrainian demonstrations clashed with each other. While the former, apparently larger in number declined to go with 'Ukrainian fascists', the latter chanted slogan against 'illegal occupation' of Crimea. Pro-Russian lawmakers stood for a referendum on 16 March, a move that has been dismissed as 'illegitimate' by the new Ukraine government backed by the western imperialist powers.

Ukraine, new hotbed of imperialist machination

The Ukraine crisis is thus deep enough to draw in the major powers of the capitalist-imperialist world, namely the USA and the EU countries led by Germany, France, on the one side and the Russian Federation on the other. They are embroiled in a crisis that seemed at one stage to be one of the severest of confrontations since the days of the "Cold War", between the western imperialist power bloc and Russia, now itself a capitalist-hegemonic power. The US involvement and intrigue are further exposed from the intercepted phone call between US diplomats, available all over the Internet. In it, the US Under Secretary of State Victoria Nuland was found to be speaking openly of how Washington had been manipulating Ukrainian opposition politicians, including making an investment of $5 billion for taking over Ukraine. The money was meant for the 40,000 non-governmental organizations the US set up in that country since a decade back. The Russian capitalism in its turn, is frantically trying to retain its sphere of influence as best as it is presently possible, by manipulating the proceedings of Crimea, where the Russian Federation has a naval base. As against all of these forces, the Ukrainian people including those of Crimea or eastern Ukraine are on the receiving end: Besides being torn apart by the ruthless capitalist exploitation and oppression, as in other capitalist country of the world, accentuating every passing moment with intensification of market crisis and industrial recession of the world capitalist system, they are now pawns in the hands of the brigands and hegemony engaged in power duel.

To comprehend a full implication and significance of these unfolding developments, it may be necessary to recall a brief background history of the country.

A brief history of Ukraine

Ukraine is presently a European country bordered by the Russian Federation in the east, Black Sea in the south, a few east European countries in the west and Belarus in the north. Since the oldest Slavic states disintegrated in the 12th century, the territory became a playground of different kingdoms and empires, first of Poland, Lithuania and Crimea under the Ottoman empire, and then of the Austro-Hungarian empire in a smaller Ukrainian speaking western part and the Russian empire in the vast Russian speaking eastern part. After the first world war, the western imperialist powers defeated and abolished the Turkish Ottoman empire till then existing in Crimea. At that time, the Tsarist Russia was radically transformed into a socialist state and in its trail, a host of countries around was liberated from their colonial rule to become constituents of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republic. Ukraine became a sovereign Soviet socialist state since 1922. Ethnically-linguistically Ukraine had a dominantly Ukrainian speaking population living in the western part and a Russian speaking, even ethnically Russian population forming overwhelming majority in the eastern part and Crimea.

After the second world war, the US imperialists were at the helm of the capitalist imperialist camp and right from the day the war ended, began hatching conspiracy to encircle and destroy the new born USSR. For the purpose, the NATO led by the US was set up as a formidable military alliance, ostensibly from behind the cloak of cooperation with and reconstruction of war-ravaged Europe. However, as the socialist camp grew mightier under the leadership of greats like Lenin, Stalin and Mao Zedong, Ukraine, with rich natural resources, started to develop as a modern state and its socialist economy triggered marked industrial development retail and wholesale trade. Colossal amounts are provided as financial stimulus to the industrial houses in the form of tax waivers and tax exemptions, bail-out packages, etc. leading to huge fiscal deficits, the burden of which is squarely shifted on to the common people in the form of enhanced taxes and curtailment of welfare schemes. Continuous price rise, tax hikes, spiralling inflation and devaluation of rupee have compounded the miseries of the people. Agricultural lands are grabbed for SEZ by forcibly evicting the peasants. Natural calamities like cyclones, floods and droughts are destroying thousands of human lives, substantial crops and enormous property but there is hardly any preventive or remedial measure from the central and state governments. Prices of seeds, fertilizers, electricity, pesticides are continuously rising while the peasants are denied support prices. Traders, hoarders and black-marketeers are allowed a free hand to manipulate prices at their will. Both the central and state governments are slashing education and health budgets and handing over these sectors to the industrial and business houses for earning maximum profit. Both education and health-care have become so costly as to go beyond the reach of the common people. Syllabi and curricula are designed in such a manner that instead of developing secular, democratic and scientific approach and outlook, they are generating blind faith, religious fanaticism and fascist culture devoid of all values and social concern. In order to close the doors of higher education to the poor and the middle class, the examination system is being abolished in schools for common students, while retaining the same in the English medium schools for the rich. The trusted parties of the ruling class are projecting these as the face of 'Development' and 'Governance'. The most pertinent question that arises is: Development for whom?

The foregoing paragraphs give the real picture of the crisis ridden and moribund capitalist system of today. Today's capitalist system is totally different from the capitalist state of the 18th or 19th century when the rising bourgeoisie fought a revolutionary battle against the feudal, autocratic and monarchical rule to establish democratic order, highlighted secular humanism as opposed to religious obscurantism, raised the banner of 'equality', 'liberty' 'fraternity' and fought for and established a system of democracy as could be possible in that historic condition. Today, in its reactionary and moribund stage of imperialism, capitalism has thrown that banner away into the dust. Capitalism has become completely reactionary, oppressive, fascist and ruthless in suppressing all democratic mass movements, working class struggles and in destroying all democratic norms, values and practices. As part and parcel of moribund world capitalism, the Indian bourgeoisie since its assuming of power in 1947 has been pursuing the same reactionary policy. Today, with concentration of monopoly capital in the hands of a few and centralization of political power in the hands of the state, and regimentation of thought, the country policies, mercilessly crushed class and mass struggles but have also tried to destroy the moral backbone of the people. All the ruling parties are trying their best to erase from history the glorious tradition of Indian Renaissance and Indian freedom struggle, particularly the revolutionary current in it. This is being done with the most malicious design to demoralize and dehumanize the younger generation in order to destroy their thinking faculty, voice of dissent and courage of struggle. Through the projection of sex, blue-films, pornography, violence, drug and alcohol addiction, gambling, etc. in print and electronic media, students and youths are being pushed to all immoral activities. It is not accidental that India is now at the top of the list in woman trafficking, kidnapping, rape cases, gang-rapes and murder. Even a girl-child of a few months or woman election results in no case reflect the real verdict of the people, but the verdict of the bourgeoisie through rampant use of money power, muscle power, media power and administrative power.

The Congress has been in power at the Centre and in many states for decades. The BJP ran the central government twice and is still now in power in several states. Regional parties like the SP, BSP, DMK, AIADMK, Akali Dal, Shiv Sena, NCP, JD(U), BJD, TDP, AGP, CPI (M), TMC, etc., all either were or are in power in different states. Except difference in their flags and names, there is virtually no difference in their policies or the way they have ruled. The Congress claims itself to be a 'secular party' and the so-called communist parties like the CPI (M) and the CPI have all through helped it to build that image. However what they have been practising is not secularism but equal encouragement to all religions or 'Sarva Dharma Samannay'. But, historically and ideologically, real secularism means separation of the state and all its institutions including education from the influence of religion and conduction of its affairs on the basis of secular democratic principles. A secular state treats religion as the private affair of an individual and neither encourages nor interferes in religious affairs. It treats both believers and non-believers on a par. In the name of equal encouragement to all religions, the Congress leadership during the freedom movement virtually practised upper caste Hindu politics which alienated the Muslims, the so-called 'lower caste' Hindus from the freedom struggle causing division among the people and thus providing a handle to the British imperialist rulers to partition the country. The Congress fomented many riots including the anti-Sikh riots of 1984 with the sole purpose of creating vote bank and dividing the toiling people. The BJP proudly claiming itself to be the champion of 'Hindutva', was instrumental in fuelling anti-Muslim frenzy through Advani's Rath Yatra, demolition of Babri Masjid and massacre of more than 2500 Muslims following the Godhra train accident. One wonders whether these fanatic zealots are more devout Hindus than Chaitanya, Ramakrishna and Vivekananda and whether they can be called as Hindus at all. It is because the aforesaid great proponents of is faced with the danger of fascism. Prevalence of regional capital which still plays a significant role in our economy and politics, acts as an impediment to the growth of full-fledged fascism. Today's bourgeoisie does not bother for democratic principles, humanist values nor does it have any concern for the country and its people. Its sole concern is to anyhow extract maximum profit by ruthless exploitation. For it, the people are nothing but human raw material to feed the exploitative machine and the whole country is nothing but a vast market to rob. It has become out and out inhuman, immoral and corrupt. So it is not accidental that ministers and leaders of the ruling parties i.e. Congress, BJP, regional parties all of whom are in service of the ruling bourgeoisie, are corrupt, hypocrite and anti-people. Even some of the leaders of CPI (M) also fell victim to corrupt practices. While in power, these parties not only pursued anti-people above 60 years of age is not spared. Surely perpetrators of such heinous crimes are not beasts, but human beings bereft of any human conscience and values. They are a new species, product of the degraded capitalist culture. Thus capitalism is destroying life economically, politically, socially, culturally, ethically and morally. It is destroying peace of the society and family life. Capitalism stands as the main obstacle to social progress and needs to be replaced by a new system that is the socialist system. This is the historic teaching of Marxism-Leninism- Comrade Shibdas Ghosh Thought.

Election only changes governments, but not the exploitative capitalist system and its oppressive state machine. By holding elections, the ruling bourgeoisie only reinstates or replaces its political manager according to its necessity, deceives the masses and distracts them from the path of revolution. Moreover, the Hinduism could not even in their wildest of dreams think of razing historic Babri Masjid to the ground and building a Ram Mandir there. Rather all through their life, they preached harmony among the followers of different religions. The architect of post-Godhra pogrom, Mr. Narendra Modi, whose hands are stained with the blood of hundreds of innocent Muslim men, women and children and who was severely admonished by the then BJP PM, Shri Atal Bihari Vajpayee for not discharging his duties (Raja-Dharma) as the Chief Minister of Gujarat, is now being projected by the BJP as the future Prime Minister of India. Taking advantage of the people's discontent and hatred against the misrule of the Congress led UPA government at the Centre; the BJP is projecting this arch Hindu communal leader as prime ministerial candidate with a view to creating a Hindu vote-bank by polarizing the people on communal lines. Having won the confidence of the corporate houses by handing over large chunks of agricultural lands for SEZs after forcibly evicting hundreds of poor peasants and by assuring cheap water and electric supply, extension of subsidies and finally after ensuring no working class unrest, powerful industrial houses are now spending thousands of crores of rupees to project Mr. Modi as the next PM.

Other regional parties whom the CPI (M), CPI consider as 'secular allies', openly practise the politics of casteism, parochialism, regionalism and fan up regional and ethnic sentiment to create 'Vote Bank'. The united CPI now split into CPI (M), CPI, several factions of CPI (ML) and other Naxalite groups were never a genuine Marxist party. With their reformist outlook the CPI and the CPI(M), of course, did organize some mass movements up to the mid-1960s but now after tasting governmental power for long, they have become so addicted to parliamentary politics and privileges that they have left the field of struggles even when vast masses of exploited and suffering people are crying for movements. Their whole activity has now got confined to raising some questions in the Parliament and Assemblies and issuing some statements. Not only that. When they were in governmental power in West Bengal and Kerala, they did not hesitate to mercilessly suppress and crush the workers' and peasants' struggles and democratic movements to the glee of the monopoly houses, big business and foreign imperialists. Several times they overtly or covertly combined with the Congress and the CPI (M) even at times joined the BJP to remain in the corridors of power on this or that plea purported to hoodwink the people. At present their sole attempt is to mobilize the regional parties for netting some petty electoral gains and help the Congress to tide over the present crisis. Undoubtedly these two so-called communist parties, as social democratic forces, have become out and out constitutional parliamentarian parties almost like the British Labour Party. As a result, a vacuum has been created in the field of democratic mass movement. Finding no powerful democratic force of movement, a section of the democratic minded intellectuals and youth are joining the Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) which, according to our analysis is also a party of the bourgeoisie. This position has been abundantly made clear by the AAP leader, Shri Kejriwal in a recent press conference held under the auspices of the CII. In the said press conference he is stated to have declared that his party is not against capitalism and that he has firm belief in the process of privatization.

In this gloomy situation when the dark clouds of fascism are looming large on the political horizon of the country, the only hope before the exploited people is the Socialist Unity Centre of India (Communist), the revolutionary party of the Indian proletariat founded by the great Marxist thinker of this era, Comrade Shibdas Ghosh. Since its inception the Party being armed with Marxism-Leninism-Shibdas Ghosh Thought, is relentlessly organizing working class struggles and democratic mass movements throughout the country against anti-people policies of the central and state governments, capitalist exploitation and imperialism.

It is the considered opinion of the Socialist Unity Centre of India (Communist) that resolution of all the problems stemming from this capitalist exploitative system is possible only through accomplishing the anti-capitalist socialist revolution. However, to reach the stage of that working class preparedness ideologically, politically, organizationally and culturally, there is urgent necessity of building up class struggles and democratic mass movements on the edifice of higher proletarian culture, ethics and morality. While focusing all its attention on developing democratic and secular mass movements, the Party is observing with due solemnity the birth and death anniversaries of doyens of the Indian Renaissance, legendary revolutionary freedom fighters and great martyrs to educate and inspire the younger generations.

So long working class and toiling people are not prepared for revolution and suffer from parliamentary illusions, the Socialist Unity Centre of India (Communist) considers it necessary to participate in the elections with the objective of dispelling the parliamentary illusions as well as to politically exposing these bourgeois and pseudo-communist parties and in the process raise the political awareness of the masses. Another reason for contesting elections is to raise the people's voice of protest in the parliamentary forum and integrate, strengthen and supplement the extra parliamentary movements outside, if elected.

So in this parliamentary election, although there are many contending parties under different flags, in reality there are two forces and two types of politics. On the one side, there are parties like the Congress, BJP, regional parties representing the exploiting bourgeois class and social democratic parties, CPI (M) and CPI toeing the line of the bourgeois parties and, on the other side, there is the Socialist Unity Centre of India (Communist) representing the exploited class and the vast masses of the suffering multitudes. While the politics of the former is to serve the capitalist class and the system and pushing the country towards further ruination, the politics of the Socialist Unity Centre of India (Communist) is to organize class and mass struggles and finally to build up political power of the people by organizing them in various people's committees from the villages to cities, from the agricultural fields to the factories and industries so that the people one day themselves can decide their own future.

In the forthcoming parliamentary election which is crucial for the future of people's life, people are to decide whether they will allow continuation of capitalist exploitation or strengthen the struggle for emancipation.

With greetings

AIMSS Ranchi (Jharkhand) district committee organized a rally on 1 March demanding justice in the case of murder of Oxford Public School warden Suchitra Misra. Next day, a delegation comprising Comrades Keya De, Sandhya Pandey, Ashoka Mondal, Seema and Lalita met the Governor and submitted a memorandum to him. Expressing utmost anxiety at the growing atrocities on women the deputation demanded that due administrative measures be taken to resist crimes against women. They also demanded that the recommendations of the Verma Commission be applied in Jharkhand, obscene websites and advertisements be banned, girl students be given training in self-protection like martial arts etc. The Governor assured the deputation that their demands would be given due consideration.

Ukraine

Geographic and commercial advantage makes Ukraine centre of contradiction among capitalist superpowers

Ukraine economy under socialism and now

The second world war had left Ukraine in total ruins. From there, Ukraine became economically and politically the second-most powerful republic of the USSR, behind only the Russian Soviet Federated Socialist Republic. It even became a European leader in industrial production and an important centre of the Soviet arms industry and high-tech research. In fact, during the post war years, Ukraine's industrial productivity doubled its pre-war level. It likened, as even the western analysts held, "wonders of West German and Japanese reconstruction", but characteristically without foreign capital. The increase of agricultural production was also tremendous in socialist Ukraine, so much so that it was called the granary of the USSR. There were, however, shortages from difficulties in distribution, as the former private operators or the former landlords relentlessly tried to create impediments to the highly-centralized system of state trading. All the fruits of development accrued to the people in socialist Ukraine

But the table was turned after the demise of Stalin and usurpation of the leadership of Soviet Union and Soviet Communist Party by the revisionists. As against development along socialist line, the revisionist leadership reversed the direction and the concomitant evils were manifest at all levels of economy and society. Agriculture suffered so much that USSR had to import food. From 1965 the industrial growth in Ukraine decreased, and finally stagnated. Ukraine's economy contracted further and severely following the years after the Soviet dissolution. The transition from socialism to capitalism only meant sufferings and downfall for the majority of the population, of which nearly 25% plunged into poverty. A significant number of citizens in rural Ukraine survived by growing their own food, often working for two or more jobs and buying the basic necessities through the barter economy. More than 60 million of Ukrainians had gone abroad in search of livelihood, who remit virtually 25 % GDP back home. Mortality rate rose fast; scope of decent education receded from common people. Ukraine was hit by the economic crisis of 2008 and the country which once developed without foreign aid had to live on a humiliating IMF approved stand-by loan of $16.5 billion.

Foreign Direct Investment (FDI) kept on rising in Ukraine after dismantling of socialism. Yet the country has had trouble maintaining stable economic growth. The hyperinflationary levels in the 1990s pushed Ukraine to hold the world record for inflation in one calendar year in 1993. Naturally, people's resentment also went on mounting sharply and fast, though without a strong genuine revolutionary leadership to direct their wrath and resentment along the right track. The reactionary rightist forces took full advantage of that to mislead the suffering Ukrainians and engineer supine submission to western imperialist dictates in the name of bringing change.

The question of major-minor, dominant-subordinate nationalities

The debacle revisionist leadership brought to the republics of the former USSR was further evident on the question of relations between the nationalities there. As mentioned, ethnic-linguistic differences persisted among the people of Ukraine, derived from their historical past. In fact, such differences were there in many of the other republics of the USSR. There was also a conflict between the different nationalities and the dominant Russian nationality the latter being historically the most developed among all. Great leader Stalin had taken due cognizance of this problem, correctly diagnosed its root on the anvil of Marxism-Leninism and charted out the remedial course within the socialist system. He showed that Russian autocratic rulers "brutally persecutes the national cultures, the languages, customs and institutions of the "alien" nationalities in Russia. It deprives them of their essential civil rights, oppresses them in every way, hypocritically sows distrust and hostility among them and incites them to bloody collisions ....its sole object is .... to intensify national strife among them, to reinforce national barriers in order more successfully to disunite ..... the entire proletariat of Russia into small national groups and in this way bury the class consciousness of the workers, their class unity. That is in the interests of Russian reaction..." (The Social-Democratic view of the National Question) So he emphasized that the great banner of socialism would cover, "not only Russian proletarians, but the proletarians of all the nationalities in Russia, and, consequently, that it will do everything to break down the national barriers that have been large number of common people also enthusiastically assembled to attend the convention. Presided over by Comrade C. K. Lukose, Central Committee member and Kerala State Secretary of SUCI(C), the convention was inaugurated by Comrade K. K. Rema, State Secretariat member of RMP and widow of slain leader Comrade T. P. convener of LUF delivered the welcome speech and Comrade S.Seethilal, state committee member of SUCI(C), proposed the vote of thanks. State leaders of the three parties including Comrades T. L. Santhosh, N.Venu, K.S.Hariharan, G.S.Padmakumar, Jaison Joseph, Narayanan Master and K. R. The declaration unanimously adopted by the convention called upon all the left and democratic minded people of the state to rally behind the LUF to organize united democratic movements of the people against the policies of globalization, communalism, corruption and politics of violence. Emphasizing the devastations and ruinations brought to the lives of common people by the policies of globalization, it also noted that corruption has been institutionalized by the power sharing parties pursuing the policy of globalization, which is nothing but a master plan to safeguard monopoly interest. Any party or force which wants to fight corruption must also fight these policies. Otherwise they also will not only fail to root out corruption, but also degenerate.

All the speakers urged the house to realize the historic significance of formation of the LUF at this juncture when the toiling people at large are desperately looking for a leadership in the fight against the anti-people policies of the central and state governments and the Left Democratic Front led by CPI(M) has deserted the path of movements and became a part and parcel of the ruling establishment.

A spirited demonstration was held in the town after the culmination of the convention. The launching of the LUF has generated great enthusiasm and expectations in the left intellectual circles and the people at large.

raised to separate them.... taken by themselves, the so-called "national interests" and "national demands" are of no particular value; that these "interests," and "demands" deserve our attention only in so far as they stimulate, or can stimulate, the proletariat's class consciousness, its class development." (ibid) But, how to operationalize that in socialism? Stalin said that each nationality be granted regional autonomy as "it does not deal with a fiction bereft of territory, but with a definite population inhabiting a definite territory" and ensuring that "it breaks down these barriers and unites the population in such a manner as to open the way for division of a different kind, division according to classes. Finally it makes it possible to utilize the natural wealth of the region and to develop its productive forces in the best possible way without awaiting the decisions of a common centre – functions which are not inherent features of cultural-national autonomy." (Marxism and the National Question) Aware of the fact that the fear of "the minorities oppressed by the national majorities" did loom large he held that fear could be dispelled through the process of true democratization. Elaborating the concept, Stalin wrote, granting "equal rights of nations in all forms (language, schools, etc.) is an essential element in the solution of the national question. Consequently, a state law based on complete democratization of the country is required, prohibiting all national privileges without exception and every kind of disability or restriction on the rights of national minorities. That and that alone, is the real, not a paper guarantee of the rights of a minority." And then he added, "...We know where the demarcation of workers according to nationalities leads to. The disintegration of a united workers' party, the splitting of trade unions according to nationalities, aggravation of national friction, national strikebreaking, complete demoralization within the ranks of Social-Democracy – such are the results of organizational federalism. ....The only cure for this is organization on the basis of internationalism... we are confronted by two fundamentally different types of organization: the type based on international solidarity and the type based on the organizational "demarcation" of the workers according to nationalities. Attempts to reconcile these two types have so far been vain....The path of "compromise" must therefore be discarded as utopian and harmful...the principle of international solidarity of the workers is an essential element in the solution of the national question."(ibid) Extending this thought to the question of the right of nations to self-determination, Stalin clarified : "The question of the rights of nations is not an isolated, self-sufficient question; it is a part of the general problem of proletarian revolution, subordinate to the whole, and must be considered from the point of view of the whole." (Foundations of Leninism)

Guided by these invaluable teachings of Stalin, Ukraine, like other Soviet republics, started emerging from its fragmented, colonial shape through the process of amalgamating different nationalities of that republic into a single modern nation. This was true despite the distinct linguistic and even ethnic differences in the eastern and western parts of Ukraine and despite the fact that reactionary elements continued to exist in the socialist Ukraine which always tried to fan up national jingoism playing upon this ethnic linguistic division.

Crime of modern revisionism

In sharpest contrast to this wise and prudent vision on the nationality question and the guidance to resolve the differences based on the higher thoughts of proletarian internationalism, the modern revisionist leadership that usurped power in the CPSU and the USSR traversed in a complete reverse direction and in fact subtly fuelled the suppressed nationality feelings within the country. Under revisionism, the nationality question instead of being resolved through pursuit of true scientific course of imbibing the true spirit of international solidarity of the working class rising above all nationality-ethnicity-based divisions, assumed critical dimension and for obvious reasons, took an anti-Russian nationality form. This was further propelled by some utterly erroneous move on the part of revisionist Soviet leadership in the international sphere. True internationalists never intervene in the internal matters of any country but do extend ideological and moral support to growth and development of true revolutionary leadership and organization of the masses through stepping up ideological- social-political-cultural struggles so as to overthrow the respective exploitative capitalist regimes. But the revisionists either capitulated to nuclear as well as diplomatic blackmailing by the imperialist camp or tried to protect or extend their spheres of influence by bluntly helping an individual or a group of their choice to rise to power in some country with the help of a section of its bureaucracy and army and also a section of national bourgeoisie of that country. Sometimes they did not even hesitate to send military into that country, which came down to mean military invasion or intervention into latter, such as it were in Afghanistan. They held that such moves would stimulate revolution. This flawed policy of exporting revolution made hegemonism as an integral part of the international policy of modern revisionism. And soon the toiling people of the world mistook Soviet Union to be a superpower akin to the western imperialists and hence began alienating themselves from it. This faulty stand of modern revisionists not only hampered the revolutionary movements in different countries, it also maligned the nobility of Marxism to patriotic people of different countries, with the communists appearing to them as 'conspirators', 'occupiers' or such others. It also adversely affected the nationality feelings in the Soviet states. The dominant or major nationalities adopted a bureaucratic high-handed attitude towards minor nationalities and the latter developing fear and mistrust about the former. The maladies or vices that Stalin precisely warned against started to crop up in the Soviet states. Fertile ground was thus created for the different reactionary forces to play upon and to incite people with their anti-communist propaganda or actions.

Counter revolution drove in the last nail

Once counter-revolution succeeded in Soviet Union following revisionist conspiracy aided and abetted by the imperialist powers, the matter only went towards worse. Remorseless desire for hegemony to become a superpower competing with the US imperialists, drove these counter-revolutionaries to such a depth that they even helped from outside to accomplish armed counter-revolution in another country. This was glaring in the case of Romania, where the communist party, among a few others in the then world, was critical of the revisionist leadership on many different issues. After fragmentation of the USSR, the erstwhile soviet republics turned into capitalist states. And courtesy the misdeeds and intrigues of the revisionists, adverse feeling, even apprehension and mistrust towards not only Russia and its leadership, but even Marxism- Leninism are on the rise. Seizing that opportunity, the bourgeois rulers of these republics keen to quell the mounting discontent and wrath among the people against ruthless capitalist oppression, have been inciting the ethnic –linguistic nationality divisions to keep disrupt people's unity, pit one section against the other and distract them from the source of their predicament. This is propelling an anti-Russian sentiment among other nationalities.

Capitalist Ukraine has become a playground for imperialist intrigues

The present Ukrainian crisis, accompanying strife between the Ukrainian- speaking and Russian speaking cum ethnic Russian nationalities, the increasing trend of looking towards Europe in the western part of Ukraine, while in the eastern part to remain solidly with Russia and the handling of the crisis by the present capitalist rulers of the Russian Federation should be judged on the anvil of the above discussion. It must also be noted that even though the former president Yanukovich was heading none else but a capitalist government, the opposition which staged the 3-month long anti-government agitation and finally came to power was studded with branded pro- western imperialist discredited elements as well as rabid anti-communist fascist forces enjoying full patronage and support from their mentors the different imperialist powers of the EU and the USA. It was true that the Yanukovich regime lost its credibility in face of rampant corruption and increasing frustration of the younger generation over the government's failure to ensure a better quality of life. People's resentment had also spread to the eastern Russian-speaking regions. Even a secessionist movement cropped up in the Lviv region of the Ukrainian-speaking west. Still then, in a recent poll conducted when protest demonstrations were at their

Ukraine people realize what they have lost with dismantling of socialism

peak, 45% people wanted the agitation to stop. Even the agitation was opposed. For instance, Borotba (Struggle) group, a combination of four or five, anti-capitalist and anti-racist groups, including former members of the youth organization of the Communist Party of Ukraine organized demonstrations before the US and British embassies in Kiev shouting slogans like "Ukraine is no colony," "Against the oligarchs and fascists" and "No civil war in Ukraine." It means the reality is not what the imperialist powers want the world to believe.

EU deal was no boon to Ukraine people

EU, on the other hand, guided by the capitalist motive to grab, had already brought the Baltic republics of Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania of the erstwhile Soviet Union under its fold. It also dangled the promise of free trade and financial help by proposing a partnership agreement with Armenia, Azerbaijan, Georgia, Moldavia, Belarus, and Ukraine. After years of negotiation, Yanukovich, agreed to sign an "association agreement". But as mentioned above, he backtracked and was ultimately deposed. But the said deal with the EU was not to be any boon for Ukraine's people. It was tied to an IMF bailout that mandated huge cut in public-spending and hiking gas prices. It was to open Ukraine market to EU goods, shutting down much of local production. But, it was not to give Ukraine EU membership to allow Ukrainian workers to work freely in the West. The deal was thus of the same kind which had suffocated workers and common people in Greece, Portugal, Spain, Ireland and even more prosperous EU countries. The EU association agreement also proposed deeper Ukraine-NATO links. Thus the pro-EU and pro-USA forces that have now come to power are set to sacrifice the national economic interests of Ukraine, and especially the interests of the working class, in the interest of their own capitalists and imperialist finance capital, as well as military objectives of the NATO. That is sure to affect whatever industrial power Ukraine still retains even after it has come down from the high level attained under socialism. The NATO also eyes the ports of Ukraine in Crimea for its warships to enter the Black Sea. This also prompts their concern for Russian position there and vis-à-vis it the Russian eagerness to maintain its hold on that peninsula. Moreover, most of the supply pipe lines of gas and oil from Russia to Europe and other parts of the world pass through Ukraine. Russia exports over 30% of Europe's gas consumption. Further Ukraine is fourth in the world in export of foodgrains. Such strategic economic importance has made Ukraine catch the eyes of the EU and US imperialists vying for a grip over the world economy.

Present crisis is merely conflict of interests of imperialists: people have nothing to gain from it

So, the capitalist rule in Ukraine after dismantling of socialism was bringing forth crisis in people's life as elsewhere in entire capitalist world. The government was unable to address people's problems and demands. This generated huge resentment among the masses. Proper political consciousness among people was marked by its absence; taking advantage of it ethnic-linguistic tension and strife had been incessantly fanned up; correct revolutionary leadership to guide people was lacking. All this helped the dormant reactionaries of the country and the imperialist vultures to find a fertile ground to carry through their designs. The intense market crisis and recession made it urgent for the imperialists to look for newer markets, to bring in more and more countries into their fold. Among others, Ukraine market has become their target. On the other hand, the Russian capitalism, that was reigning since the counter-revolution is also out to pursue its hegemonic aspiration for developing and expanding its own sphere of influence. This clash among the Russian capitalism, EU and US imperialism is plainly centred on grabbing market and extending spheres of influence. Obviously, this has nothing to do with the interest of the people of Ukraine bled white under gruelling capitalist exploitation. The capitalist rulers of the country as also the imperialist hawks, including the Russian rulers care a fig for people's suffering. In fact, they thrive on escalated suffering, mutual distrust and disaffection among the people. But whoever gains out of this conflict of imperialists and whoever loses out would not mitigate the hardship of the people. Rather, it would sustain ethnic-nationality conflicts, escalate war tensions in the region and subject people to more and more suffering. With the rabid anti-communist, anti-Russian and even anti-Semitic fascist forces rising to power, the progressive democratic minded working people including those sympathetic to socialism are sure to face severe coercion and oppression. Already the omens are there. The US imperialist rulers are spitting unbridled venom against the progressive democratic minded section of the population branding them as opponents to their schemes. Hence the sooner the better, working people of Ukraine come to this realization that the capitalist rule they have ushered in with counter revolution would bring no respite to them from any problem, any exploitation. From experience, they now understand what they have lost with the fall of socialism and what ruinous has been the consequence of drifting away from the invaluable teachings of Marxism-Leninism. The situation has unequivocally upheld the lesson that only socialism in proper perspective is the real alternative for people; neither revisionism in the cloak of socialism nor capitalism-imperialism can free people from exploitation, disunity, discrimination and oppression. Hence the goal is singular and that is overthrow of capitalism again along with throwing down these imperialist demons from their shoulder. For that, they will need a strong revolutionary leadership, would have to isolate the anti-people forces. Which course they would tread upon and how, they will have to determine themselves. It is they who will have to decide their destiny. Certainly they need no guardian or overlord. And so they must not let themselves land in the lap of the US imperialists or for that matter any other imperialists in the name of resisting Russia.

Anti-Vidhan Parishad Demonstrators Face Police Atrocities in Assam

Assam State Committee of SUCI(C) organized a statewide programme of mass law-violation on March 3 against proposed establishment of anti-people and redundant Vidhan Parishad. At Dhuburi and Goalpara more than hundred demonstrators were arrested by the police and at Goalpara the police even lathi-charged the peaceful demonstrators. Also the police went to the extent of dragging women demonstrators along as they arrested them. Addressing the meeting held at the end of the rally, Comrade Chandralekha Das, Assam State Secretary said that for long movements are being developed in Assam over this issue. Even a successful all-Assam bandh was observed on January 3. Still the Congress-run state government refuses to heed to people's voice and is bent upon pushing through its proposal. On top of that, police atrocities are descending on the agitators. Comrade Das called upon the people to intensify movements against the anti-people policies of the state government.

Programmes Commemorating the Martyrdom of Chandrasekhar Azad

Punjab

Observing the martyrdom of the valiant patriot Chandrasekhar Azad a rally was taken out on February 27 jointly by AIDS0 and AIDYO at Budhaldia, Punjab protesting also against commercialization, privatization, fees-hike in education and demanding unemployment allowance, filling up the vacant posts of teachers etc. Comrade Amrindar Pal Singh, SUCI (C) State Secretary, addressed the rally as the main speaker.

Durg, Chhattisgarh

The occasion was also celebrated on February 27, with due honour and solemnity at Shaheed

Chawk, Durg, Chhattisgarh. The programme started with garlanding statues of the great martyrs Chandrasekhar Azad, Bhagat Singh, Udhham Singh as well as of Netaji Subhas Chandra Bose. This was followed by a cycle rally that started from Shaheed Chawk, passed through several main thoroughfares to reach Chandrasekhar Azad's statue at Kasarideeh where a meeting was held with active participation of AIDS0 workers and local people. Comrade Atmaram Sahu addressed the meeting. Martyrs' Day was also observed at Jaunpur and Sultanpur in UP and at other places.
